

Subject: Maple promo code for McGill Students
From: "Mark Anderson" <manderson@maplesoft.com>
Date: Tue, 9 Sep 2008 14:46:35 -0400
To: <angeles@cim.mcgill.ca>

Hi Dr. Angeles,

The last couple of years you worked with my colleague Gavin FitzPatrick to set up a special promotional code for McGill Students to purchase Maple at a discounted rate. Gavin has moved into a new position here at Maplesoft and asked me to get in touch with you to get this set up for you again.

Here is the information your students will need to take advantage of this offer. Send them this to this link:

<https://webstore.maplesoft.com/index.aspx>

They will then need to fill out the appropriate information on this page:

Category: Student

Location: Canada

Promotion Code: CNIS9414

I'm not sure how you did it last year, but feel free to share this with any of your colleagues who have students using Maple.

The price for Maple student edition has dropped a bit since last year, so students using this code can purchase Maple for $75 now.

As an fyi I have also sent an email to Debbie Morzajew with this information in it. I'll try to touch base with you in a week or 2 to ensure you received this. If you have any questions in the meantime, don't hesitate to contact me.

Have a great day!

Mark

Mark Anderson
Territory Manager

Maplesoft

615 Kumpf Dr, Waterloo, ON (Canada) N2V 1K8

T: 1-800-267-6583 ext.421

F: 519-747-5284

manderson@maplesoft.com

"I involved a group of students in this review of Maple and, without exception, they demonstrated improved coherence, responsiveness and productivity both in individual work and in sharing or dissemination cycles."

-Scientific Computing World; April 2007

www.maplesoft.com